- Value confusion as a natural and necessary part of learning

Paul Bernbei returns to Fairmont for this free presentation that is open to all with a focus on parenting. Refreshments will be served after the program. A special thank you to Culligan Water and Hy-Vee for their donation of water and cookies.

Haven Experience meets at Opera House

"Haven Experience" is a nondenominational church, meeting on Sundays at 10 a.m. at the Fairmont Opera House. Haven Experience was created after a local blended family who both came from different denominations wanted a one-umbrella church to all.

After years of fading away from their own churches, they found their haven with Eagle Brook, a church based in Lino Lakes. Haven Experience works with the Eagle Brook Association to bring their online messages to the Fairmont community.

In addition, a children's program, "Kid-o-deo" is held during the services.

We are seeking volunteer help in the following areas; greeters, children's program, music, or simply by just talking about Haven Experience and sharing the word with others. We graciously accept any donations, which are used in spreading the love of Jesus to our community. Complimentary breakfast and beverages are available.

Trimont Church Embraces Community Outreach

A free-will donation rummage sale, following the free-will donation drive-through meal held earlier this month, affirm that the Trimont United Methodist Church is here to serve and give back to the local community.

The Trimont United Methodist Church is having a rummage sale on Friday, August 27, from 9 a.m.-7 p.m., and Saturday, August 28, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The church is located at 111 Apple St. E. in Trimont, MN. A limited number of items will be priced, and the majority of items will not be priced. Free-will donations will be accepted and proceeds will be donated to local missions.

According to Lorelie Ploehn, the Trimont UMC typically has a rummage sale each year in April, but COVID-19 prevented that from happening in 2020 or 2021. "People have continued to bring in items since the last rummage sale in 2019. We gave all of the books, CDs, games, and seasonal decorations to the Trimont Chamber of Commerce for their book/media sale, and we've had more items donated since then. We have an abundance of clothing for all ages, household goods & decorations, linens, crafts, plus many other items."

Ploehn said there's a lot of work that goes into setting up for the rummage sale. "Most of the donations are bagged and in storage, so all of the bags need to be brought out of storage, then every bag has to be opened and all the items sorted. Once the items are sorted, we start arranging and displaying them. We try to have the sale nicely organized so it's convenient for people browsing items. We want to thank the MCW Volleyball team for helping move all the rummage into the Fellowship Hall of the church, and all the people who volunteered their time to set up tables, sort through items, and organize everything. It takes a lot of time, and we really appreciate everyone who helped out," said Ploehn.

When asked if everything sells, Ploehn said any remaining items are donated. "This year, if items are left after the rummage sale, they'll go to 12 Baskets in Fairmont, except for the shoes. We're collecting gently used shoes to help a couple raise funds for their adoption. If you have shoes in wearable condition that have been outgrown or simply aren't worn anymore, you can drop them off at our church during the rummage sale."

By having a free-will donation, the church believes that people will pay what they can afford and what they feel is appropriate. "There are a lot of needs that we can meet right here, close to home," said Kristie Swenson. "We've found that what one person donates is what another person needs, so the rummage sale is a great way for items to get more use in a new home. The rummage sale and the drive-through meal we had earlier in August are both ways that we can love our neighbors. We also want to invite our neighbors to join us on Sunday, September 12, at 10am for a special Embrace launch service. Embrace is a Methodist church in Sioux Falls, and we're streaming their messages. Because this is a special event for us, Papa's Smokin' Meats food truck will be on-site from 11am-1pm for people to purchase food after the church service. We're excited about our path, and we hope to continue having more events to serve our community."

The Trimont United Methodist Church invites the community to come for its free-will donation rummage sale on Friday, August 27, and Saturday, August 28, and for its Embrace launch service on Sunday, September 12.

No-bake dessert is ideal for warm weather entertaining

Backyard barbecues beckon and poolside entertaining reigns supreme every summer. After guests have had their fill of fire-licked grilled burgers, hot dogs and chicken, a refreshing dessert that won't have summertime hosts sweating preparation can make for the perfect culinary capper.

"Banana Pudding Cheesecake Bars" marry tangy cream cheese with sweet and velvety banana pudding atop a cookie crust. They're easy to prepare ahead of time and easily sliced when the dessert bell beckons. Double up the recipe if you're expecting a crowd or want to have a few leftovers - they're that delicious. Enjoy this recipe, courtesy of Lena Abraham, senior food editor and stylist at Delish.

Banana Pudding Cheesecake Bars

Yields: 9 servings

For crust

11/2 cup crushed vanilla wafer cookies

5 tablespoons butter, melted

2 tablespoons sugar

Pinch sea salt

For filling

11/2 (8 ounces) blocks cream cheese, softened

1/2 cup sugar

11/2 cup whipped topping

1 3.4-ounce package instant banana pudding mix

13/4 cup whole milk

For topping

Whipped topping

1/2 banana, sliced

9 vanilla wafer cookies

1. Line an 8-inch by 8-inch pan with parchment paper.
2. Make crust: In a medium bowl, combine crushed wafer cookies with butter, sugar and salt. Press in an even layer into the prepared pan. Place in freezer while making filling.
3. Make cheesecake filling: In a large bowl using a hand mixer (or in a stand mixer), beat cream cheese until fluffy and no clumps remain. Add sugar and beat until combined. Fold in whipped topping and set aside.
4. In a medium bowl, whisk together pudding mix and milk. Let pudding stand for 3 minutes in the refrigerator, until thickened. Fold into cheesecake mixture until well combined.
5. Pour filling into prepared crust and smooth into an even layer. Freeze until bars are firm, at least 6 hours and up to overnight.
6. When firm, remove from freezer and slice into nine bars. Top each bar with a dollop of whipped topping, a slice of banana and a vanilla cookie before serving.

Note: If banana isn't your favorite flavor, replace banana pudding with lemon pudding and use a thin lemon slice in the whipped topping dollop as a garnish when serving.

Ag Update: MANY KEY AG POLICY ISSUES ON THE FOREFRONT

Guest Columnist

Over the past few years, Farmfest has been a major event for discussing key issues affecting farm families, the ag industry and rural communities in Minnesota and the Midwest. Many of these same issues that were discussed at Farmfest in early August will likely frame the discussions on ag and rural policy issues in Washington, DC in the next few years. Following are some of the main issues that were discussed during the 2021 Farmfest forums:

•Impacts of the 2021 Drought and Available Resources --- Nearly all of the forums at Farmfest centered around the impact of the drought on crop and livestock producers. Based on the "U.S. Drought Monitor" in early August, over 75 percent of Minnesota was categorized to be in either the "extreme drought" (D3) or "severe drought" (D2) category, with only the Southeast quarter of the State being largely spared from these conditions. Nearly all of North and South Dakota were at some level of drought, with over two-thirds of North Dakota and a large area of North Central South Dakota in either "extreme drought" (D3) or "exceptional drought" (D4). Areas that are in extreme or exceptional drought are likely seeing significant crop loss and extremely limited forage production, as well as longer term effects on lakes, rivers, streams, and ground water supplies.

Throughout the Summer of 2021, drought conditions have intensified in most of the Northern Plains and Northwest Corn Belt States. Livestock producers in those areas are being especially hard-hit by the extended drought conditions with exhausted pastures and depleted feed supplies. Many beef cattle producers are being forced to reduce their herd sizes due to limited pasture and hay resources. USDA has announced the potential for emergency haying and grazing on land enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) in areas of Minnesota that are the most severe drought. Livestock producers should check with their local FSA office regarding eligibility, enrollment details, and requirements for emergency haying and grazing of CRP acres. Eligibility requirements and details on all USDA drought assistance programs are available at local FSA offices. Details and updates the USDA drought programs can also be found at: <https://www.fsa.usda.gov/programs-and-services/disaster-assistance-program/index>

•Carbon Sequestration and Carbon Credits --- Carbon sequestration, carbon credits, and potential legislation to address climate change garnered considerable discussion during the Farmfest forums by elected officials, ag leaders, and experts in the carbon industry. One quote of note was:

"the carbon market is like the wild, wild west," meaning there is no clear-cut path as to where the U.S. or the ag industry is headed related to the carbon market. There was considerable discussion regarding opportunities for crop and livestock producers to participate and benefit from carbon credits; however, it was very unclear how those carbon credits will be valued or traded. It was also very uncertain as to what practices will qualify for carbon credits that have value and whether producers that have already adopted carbon-friendly practices will be eligible for any

Fairmont Council Requests Voluntary Water Conservation

By Judy Bryan, Freelance Journalist

Continued lack of precipitation and warm temperatures have resulted in dropping water levels in local lakes. The current situation prompted the Fairmont City Council to ask residents to conserve water usage.

At the council's regular meeting on Monday, Aug. 23, Troy Nemmers, city engineer/public works director, told the council that the current lake level of 1150.58, which almost matches the lake level of 1150.66 from August 2012 when the Minnesota DNR notified the city that immediate water conservation methods were needed.

That notice required city residents to eliminate all non-essential water use which the state defines as lawn sprinkling, vehicle washing, golf course irrigation and other recreational uses.

So far, Nemmers said, the DNR has sent Fairmont, as well as all other communities in the state, a standard notice about the state moving into a drought phase. In response to this notice, Fairmont posted a notice online and on social media requesting that residents voluntarily reduce water usage.

However, the water plant has recorded minimal reduction in usage.

Rather than mandating water restrictions and implementing monetary fines for violations at this time, the council opted to request that citizens voluntarily conserve water in their homes and businesses. Should the DNR mandate water conservation, the council will take the appropriate action.

In another matter, the council approved a purchase order for $125,000 for a rescue boat for the Fairmont Fire Department. The city previously had budgeted $45,000 for the boat, and the balance is included in the 2022 proposed budget. The amount will come from grants and Fire Department gambling funds.

In other business, the council:

- Approved a new liquor license for the Channel Inn. The action was required due to the change of ownership from Dan and Monica Danks to David Danks and Katie Krahmer.

- Approved closing Woodland Avenue from Albion Avenue to Lake Park Boulevard to automobile traffic from 4:30-7:30 p.m. on Oct. 31 to allow for a safe space for families to trick or treat on Halloween.

- Approved the appointment of Aaron Speltz to finish out a term on the Fairmont Economic Development Authority that ends on June 30, 2023. He replaces Amy Long who has moved out of the city limits.

- Approved the purchase of a main server at City Hall to replace a unit that is seven years old and at the end of its useful life. The 2021 budget includes $60,000 for this project.

- Heard a report from Mike Katzenmeyer, chairman of the Fairmont Lakes Foundation, on the organization's history and its continued advocacy for the city's lakes.

- Heard an update from Ned Koppen, president of the Fairmont Area Chamber of Commerce, on the Chamber's summer activities and upcoming networking opportunities such as Bureau 14, PM Exchange and Young Professionals Group. Another new project at the Chamber involves featuring five businesses each month. In August, those highlighted businesses are the Ranch, Dairy Queen, Associate Optometry, Interlaken Golf Club and Sovell Jewelry.

- Learned that the 10 employees in the Public Utilities Line Department received a certificate of excellence that measured the reliability of the utility.

The next regular council meeting will be at 5:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 13.

Fairmont City Council meetings can be viewed on the city's website, www.fairmont.org, under the "Citizens" tab or on Fairmont Cable Channel 13 at 2 and 10 a.m. and p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and at 7 a.m. and p.m. on Wednesdays.

compensation. The "bottom-line" from the Farmfest forums was that it is probably better to "walk before you run" when it comes to make major changes in a farming operation strictly targeted toward gaining value from the emerging carbon market.

• Grain Markets and Rising Input Costs --- One of the major discussion items at Farmfest was the trends in the grain and livestock markets in the coming months. Crop production expenses and land rental rates have risen sharply in the past six months, which has some producers and analysts concerned about profit margins as we look ahead to 2022. Prior to 2020, profit margins in crop and livestock production had been quite tight in recent years, which put many farm operations at the brink of financial disaster by the end of 2019. Fortunately, a combination of one-time government aid programs, together with the strongest grain prices in several years, allowed farmers to rebound financially in 2020 and 2021.

• U.S. Energy Policy --- There was considerable discussion at Farmfest as to how climate change legislative proposals, such as the "Green New Deal" or further implementation of the "California Fuel Standards" might impact agriculture industry and future development of biofuels. On one hand farm organizations and commodity groups point to the climate benefits of expanding the use of biofuels by moving toward E-15 blends of ethanol and higher levels of biodiesel. On the other hand, many special interest groups are calling for reductions or elimination of the federal renewable fuel standards (RFS) and other measures that would hurt the renewable fuels industry, while calling for additional resources into expanding electric powered vehicles, as well as wind and solar energy. Many States in the Upper Midwest, including Minnesota, have a well-established corn-based ethanol industry, which utilizes over 35 percent of the corn produced each year in the United States. In addition to the direct benefits to farmers, renewable energy plants have become cornerstones in rural communities by providing jobs, adding to the local tax base, and enhancing the overall economic vitality of the communities.

• Livestock Related Issues --- There were many issues affecting the livestock industry that were surfaced during Farmfest. The pork industry is being challenged by the implementation of "Proposition 12," which would restrict a significant amount of the pork being produced in the Midwest from being sold in California. Pork producers also want to keep export markets open for U.S. pork and are concerned with outbreak of African swine fever disease in the Dominican Republic and ongoing challenges with PRRS disease. Beef producers are very concerned with the worsening drought situation in many cow/calf production areas of the U.S., as well as monitoring the Department of Justice investigations into the beef processing industry. Dairy farmers have seen some improvement in profit levels during the past year; however, the long-term trend in the dairy industry is for continued tight profit margins. This will likely result in a continued trend of smaller dairy producers exiting the industry in the next few years.

• Looking Ahead to the Next Farm Bill --- The current Farm Bill expires on September 30, 2023, so congressional discussions on the next Farm Bill will likely begin later this year and continue into 2022. It will be interesting how issues like providing an adequate "safety nets" for crop and livestock producers, climate change, and social issues affect the Farm Bill discussion. Some key questions relative to development of the next Farm Bill that surfaced at Farmfest include:

- Will crop insurance continue to be protected as a corner-stone risk management tool for farmers?
- Will crop producers still have farm program choices (PLC and ARC-CO)

• Will carbon sequestration efforts be linked in the commodity title the next Farm Bill?

• Will there be a move to further expand CRP acres or add set-aside acres for carbon sequestration?

• Will enhanced risk management tools be added for livestock producers?

• What will be the budget allocation and how much will be allocated the Nutrition Title?

There are numerous other issues and programs that impact Greater Minnesota in a variety of ways that were surfaced during the Farmfest forums including rural health care, labor shortages, expansion of broadband coverage, and infrastructure needs. Congress is likely to make some key policy decisions in the coming years.

25 YEARS AGO IN THE PHOTO PRESS

Week of August 28, 1996

Fairmont Clinic Mayo Health System was holding a 25 year anniversary celebration. All the physicians and allied staff were listed, with their years of service to the clinic. The celebration included root beer floats, live music, balloons, door prizes and appearances by the Mayo One medical helicopter and Mayo Cardiology's mobile evaluation and treatment vans.

A ground breaking ceremony was held for the new Chain of Lakes Juvenile Resource Center to be built in northeast Fairmont. It will have four secured and 26 unsecured units. It would allow troubled teenagers to stay near their communities while undergoing treatment.

A family of four from Kuwait spent five days in Fairmont. The father had graduated from a California university and brought his family back to see this country. He was general manager of a trading company in Kuwait. The family was overwhelmed by the friendliness and helpfulness of the local people.

The Blue Earth River Basin Initiative (BERBI) announced the hiring of Linda Meschke as coordinator. Meschke previously worked for Martin County as Agricultural Inspector, Water Planner and Wetland Administrator.

Don Milbrandt of Fairmont and Burnetta Reckard of Truman were named 1996 Martin County Outstanding Senior Citizens

50 YEARS AGO IN THE PHOTO PRESS

Week of August 28, 1971

The City Council turned down an offer by the Fairmont Board of Education to sell the city block formerly occupied by the junior high school which had been destroyed by fire in 1969. Aldermen said the price for the block, #37,500, was too high since the land was originally purchased with tax money. The city had been seeking a site for park purposes.

A check for $139,000 in behalf of the State of Minnesota was presented by Gov. Wendell Andersen to the City of Fairmont, representing the state's share in the purchase of 259.5 acres of lakeshore land earmarked for park purposes. The land borders on Hall and Amber Lake in southwest Fairmont, to be completed within two years.

Marlin Gratz entered the race for alderman of Ward Two, opposing Kenneth Evans, incumbent.

Dave Miller of Pillager, Minn., was issued a second license to operate a taxi service in the city.
