SERVING MARTIN COUNTY PLUS ADJACENT MINNESOTA & IOWA COUNTIES 2020 Martin County & City of Fairmont Legal Newspaper

WE'RE VOTING FOR REPUBLICAN MICHAEL SUKALSKI IN THE PRIMARY ELECTION ON AUGUST 11TH!

I WILL FIGHT FOR OUR COMMUNITY.

I am running to serve District 23A because I have a genuine desire to improve and give back to my community. We need a strong voice and advocate to fight for our district in St. Paul – someone who can communicate, listen, learn, and generate new ideas. I believe I am the right candidate for the job, which I have shown through my drive, dedication to problem solving, hard work, and ideas for change. It is my job as an engineer to evaluate a problem, study it from every angle, generate a solution, and ultimately execute that solution – and this is exactly how I would tackle the issues in St. Paul.

My strong leadership and advocacy experiences make me qualified to serve as your state representative. I have over twenty years of experience volunteering and advocating for various causes, including agriculture, for those with disabilities, improvements to our education system, and for hunting and gun rights. I am a director of the Martin County Farm Bureau, an active member of local corn, soybean, and pork producers associations, and have experience in international relations through my volunteer work. My agricultural knowledge and experience allowed me to help establish the new Precision Agriculture program at SDSU—the very first in the nation—while writing and teaching the curriculum for a college-level course. I led a team of engineers and earned US Patent #9,380,773. I tutored more than 50 college students in accounting, business, economics, math, chemistry, physics, and engineering. I have a unique perspective of the challenges faced by not just farmers and small business owners, but of individuals with disabilities and the challenges they face in education and employment through my continuous advocacy for my little sister Suzy who has Down syndrome.

I have set foot in every precinct of this district to ensure I hear directly from the people about what they need in St. Paul, and many people of our community have reached out to me to discuss the issues and share their concerns. I have spoken to Republicans, Democrats, and Independents. I have met with mayors, school superintendents, business owners, healthcare workers, paraprofessionals, parents, students, farmers, and more about the issues they face in their lives and in their fields. I am seeking out experts and opinions from every corner of the district to ensure I can truly be this community's voice in St. Paul. And I'm not done.

This is a grassroots campaign dedicated to honesty and transparency. I have provided details and explanations on my positions, so they are available for everyone to know and see. I have discussed Minnesota's COVID-19 response and the governor's over-assertion of emergency powers, and I have laid out what I would do if I were at the Capitol to curb this infringement. I have discussed protecting our civil liberties, including protecting our 2nd Amendment rights by stopping any governmental infringements such as mandated gun registration and red flag laws, and I have asserted my belief in constitutional carry and Stand Your Ground laws. I have discussed protecting the rights of the unborn and protecting those with special needs, and I have shined a light on our over-taxation and over-regulation. These are just a handful of the positions I have discussed – many more are detailed in videos on my Facebook page and at SukalskiForMN.com. I am proud to be a life-long member of this community, and I would be honored to represent it. Feel free to contact me at 507-236-2555. I humbly ask for your vote in the Primary Election on August 11th. Thank you and God bless.

Library Column

August 5, 2020

Wondering what your neighbors are reading? Here are the top four most popular books at the Martin County Library so far this year!

Where the Crawdads Sing by Delia Owens: Set in a quiet town on the North Carolina coast, this is an ode to the natural world, a heartbreaking coming-of-age story, and a surprising tale of possible murder.

This Tender Land by William Kent Krueger: Over the course of one summer, four orphans journey into the unknown and cross paths with others who are adrift, from struggling farmers and traveling faith healers to displaced families and lost souls of all kinds.

Nothing More Dangerous by Allen Eskens: In a small Southern town where loyalty to family and to "your people" carries all the weight, defying those unspoken rules can be a deadly proposition. As the mystery of a missing woman plays out, Boady begins to see the lines of race and class that both bind and divide this small town - and he will be forced to choose sides.

The Great Alone by Kristin Hannah: Hannah reveals the character of the modern American pioneer and the spirit of a vanishing Alaska - a place of incomparable beauty and danger. A daring book about love and loss, the fight for survival, and the wildness that lives in both man and nature.

Oats Threshing at Heritage Acres Sunday

Heritage Acres will hold its annual oats threshing this Sunday, August 9th from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. This free event will include blacksmithing demonstrations, live music with Steve Lang and Bob Petrowiak from noon to 2 p.m. and old time oat threshing throughout the afternoon. Food will be available by Tami's on the Ave.

A few vintage tractors will be on display and many of the Heritage Acres buildings will be open.

About two acres of oats were planted in early spring southwest of the Prairieville building. They were cut and bundled with a hundred year old binder, shocked (stacked to dry for a week), then loaded on hay racks that were put under cover.

Before farmers traded in horses for tractors, oats were primarily grown for horse feed.

Lighter Summer meals

Hot weather means simpler meals. Who wants to stand over a hot stove when its so warm outdoors? Not me! We are getting red ripe tomatoes from our very own plants and my basil plants look like little bushes so I am all set for today's recipe! I hope you will enjoy it too.

Grilled Havarti, tomato & basil sandwiches

1/2 cup Hellmann's mayonnaise
8 slices French bread or country loaf
8 slices Havarti cheese
1 large vine-ripened tomato, cut into 8 thin slices leaves from 1 small bunch of basil, torn

Spread mayo on both sides of each slice of bread. On each of 4 slices bread, layer 1 slice of cheese, 2 tomato slices, a scattering of basil leaves, and another slice of cheese. Place the remaining bread slices on top of each.

Heat a large skillet over medium-high heat until hot. Toast the sandwiches until nicely browned on both sides and the cheese is melted, 4-6 minutes. Flip the sandwiches about halfway through cooking. Reduce the heat to medium if the sandwiches are browning too quickly. Slice each sandwich in half and serve immediately.

Makes 4 servings.

Have a safe and good week!

Three creative road trips and the tires needed to get you there

(BPT) - Are you ready to hit the road?

Sooner or later, it'll be time to load up the car and launch a new journey.

Many Americans have been thinking about where that next journey is going to be, and for many, the destination will be closer to home this year. But deciding where to go is only the start; it's also important to know how to get there safely.

Here are some ideas for great American road trips and some tips for safely enjoying each adventure. To access great road trips for every U.S. state and many Canadian provinces, visit NokianTires.com/Journey. You can add your own favorites, too, and U.S. residents could potentially win a set of tires.

Climb the Rockies in Colorado

The scenic vistas of the Rocky Mountains humble and empower at the same time. From Boulder to Breckenridge and Grand Junction to Greeley, there's much to experience - grueling hikes, adrenaline-fueling mountain biking, quaint shopping in the rustic villages nestled in shaded valleys, and more.

Start in Denver. The Mile High City is a mecca for Western culinary specialties, live entertainment and urban exploration. When you've had your fill, escape to the Rocky Mountain wilderness. The Front Range is about an hour from downtown and unlocks unlimited outdoor opportunity.

As you're cruising down I-70, you never know what the next hairpin curve will reveal - a dramatic peak, a lush valley, or maybe even a sudden rain or snowstorm. If you plan to tame the Rockies, make sure your tires are as prepped as your backpack is.

For every 1,000-foot increase in altitude, tire pressure decreases by as much 0.5 psi - enough to create safety hazards if tires aren't properly inflated beforehand. Underinflated tires increase the risk of blowouts and have decreased handling properties. Before heading for the hills, make sure your tires are inflated to your car's recommended tire pressure. And consider installing a set of all-weather tires on your vehicle. Unlike all-season tires, they're crafted to drive in the sudden snow that can fall any time of year at high elevation.

Cling to the Coast

Are you California dreamin'? The Pacific Coast Highway meanders along the cliffs on America's western fringe, stopping for leisure breaks in iconic cities between the miles of craggy coastline.

Capture the sunset as it paints the Pacific horizon. Dig your toes into ocean-splashed sand. And be sure to bark back at the seals when they greet you.

The best way to explore the PCH is in a vehicle that can smoothly hug the narrow curves - and with a set of high-performance tires that were born to zig-zag. You might want to consider the Nokian zLine A/S, a high-performance all-season tire whose tread pattern provides precise handling and controlled comfort.

Unlock the Keys

Do you live closer to the East Coast? Perhaps the beaches of Florida are beckoning. Cruise down historic I-95, and once you cross the Florida state line, turn left anytime to access miles of shoreline. If you want to beeline to the southernmost point in the continental United States, put Miami in the rearview mirror and hit Highway 1.

The Overseas Highway snakes for 113 miles until it dead-ends at Key West. Along the way, you'll leapfrog from key to key over more than three dozen bridges. At the end of the road, you'll be closer to Havana than Miami.

But there's one drawback to Florida adventure: rainstorms. If you aren't used to the state's tropical deluges, they can dampen your vacation plans. That means hydroplaning is an ever-present risk, so you'll need tires that can carve their way through saturated highways. The first step: making sure your tires have adequate tread depth. The deeper a tire's tread, the more easily it will grip the road and provide predictable performance. Once tires are down to 4/32 of an inch, they're prone to hydroplane at lower speeds.

Just like our tires, we're all eager to get rolling. Soon, it will be time for adventure - and time to make sure you've got healthy tires at the foundation of your new journey. To explore others' road trip ideas and add your own top choices, visit NokianTires.com/Journey.

Hints to help you be engine smart, earth kind NAPSI)—Knowing where to look can help you save money at the fuel pump.

To help, Growth Energy and GasBuddy announced that drivers across the nation can now take advantage of Unleaded 88's affordable prices through GasBuddy.

dy's database and app. Unleaded 88 is a fuel with 15 percent renewable biofuel approved for cars 2001 and newer and, thanks to the recent lifting of outdated government regulations, is now available for sale at the pump all year-round.

GasBuddy is a smartphone app and website used by millions of drivers every month to avoid paying full price for fuel. It is the world's largest database of real-time, crowd-sourced gas price data covering more than 150,000 North American gas stations.

This new partnership lets GasBuddy's app users access a comprehensive database of Unleaded 88 fuel at more than 1,800 retail locations around the country. Additionally, Growth Energy and GasBuddy have launched an advertising campaign within the app to promote the benefits of the renewable fuel to consumers.

"With fuel prices constantly changing and varying between stations, GasBuddy's goal is to be the most comprehensive platform for drivers to make fuel-purchasing decisions and save money on every fill-up," said Patrick DeHaan, head petroleum analyst at GasBuddy. "By including the availability of Unleaded 88, we're continuing our commitment to our users."

Emily Skor, CEO of the world's largest ethanol trade association, Growth Energy, celebrated this new partnership and the opportunity for millions of drivers to find the more affordable choice at the pump with Unleaded 88 through GasBuddy's popular price-tracking app.

"We are thrilled to partner with the nation's leading and most respected fuel app to help more Americans access the engine smart and earth kind benefits of Unleaded 88," said Skor. "Drivers all over the U.S. rely on GasBuddy to fuel their lives and we are looking forward to giving them another option at the pump that is cleaner-burning and provides a savings of up to 10 cents per gallon."

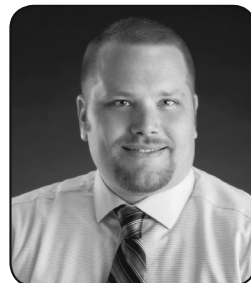

Today, Kwik Trip, Sheetz, Casey's General Store, Cumberland Farms, Thorntons, Kum & Go, RaceTrac, QuickTrip, Rutter's, Minnoco, Protec Fuel, Murphy USA, Family Express, Royal Farms, Pump & Pantry, and Bosselmanns offer Unleaded 88 at more than 1,800 locations across 31 states.

4 easy ways to upgrade your summer road trip

(BPT) - Travel might look different this summer, but it doesn't mean you can't make the most of the season. Whether it's a day drive up the coast or an overnight camping trip in the mountains, you can still fuel a sense of summer adventure by simply getting behind the wheel. And with travelers spending more of their free time on the road, it's the perfect time to upgrade any vehicle with the latest in auto tech, accessories and equipment, starting with your tires.

As you plan your summer road trip, here are some recommendations to enhance your safety and performance so all you have to think about is enjoying the ride.

Find a tire that performs just as hard as you do

Don't let weather or terrain hold you back from going the distance. While many travelers focus on the vehicle itself, they tend to overlook a critical piece of equipment: tires.

Re-evaluate your current set and consider an upgrade, such as the new Michelin® Pilot® Sport All Season 4.

The Tire proves that all-season capability and ultra-high-performance can coexist. With improved dry, wet and cold weather capabilities, and race-inspired tread compound, the Michelin® Pilot® Sport All Season 4 provides safety and performance. Dynamic Response Technology ensures forces and temperatures are distributed evenly for a longer tread wear life. Extra rubber on the outer shoulder provides exceptional grip, ensuring you and your car will be ready for anything, both now and long after summer ends.

Download apps designed to keep you moving

Now that your car is performing at top optimization with new tires, make sure your itinerary is as well. Research and download travel apps ahead of time to help you locate gas stations, restaurants, dispersed campgrounds, rest stops and more so you can spend less time searching and more time moving. And don't limit yourself to just travel apps. Meditation apps can help you decompress after a long ride and many of the top athletic brands offer on-demand training classes that can be done virtually anywhere.

Stay connected

Having a portable power inverter for your car is an easy way to convert your car's DC electric power into AC electric power, which can be used to charge a wide range of appliances and accessories for any type of road trip. Whether you're an amateur photographer looking to charge a digital camera for those beach shots or an early morning camper craving a cup of coffee on the go, having a power inverter can make life on the road run smoothly.

Refresh your interior

Getting a luxe feel inside your car can be quick, easy and make all the difference for the driver and passengers. Simple upgrades like swapping out windshield wipers and floor mats will make your vehicle look and feel new, while also keeping it as comfortable and up-to-date as possible.

A memorable summer road trip is just around the corner, and you can make sure it's your safest, best yet with these tips, from apps that help you plan your route to efficient ways to elevate your in-car experience. Don't lose your sense of adventure this summer. Get out, get moving and take control of your summer road trip!

Protecting your ability to drive safely for as long as possible (NAPSI)—Driving a car means maintaining independence for many older adults. Driving allows you to shop, see friends and family, keep up with medical appointments, and avoid social isolation. But sometimes staying safe behind the wheel as you age can be a challenge.

Age-related physical and mental changes can affect your ability to drive safely. If you're alert to these changes and manage them carefully, you may be able to continue driving safely for some time.

To keep your skills as sharp as possible, consider following these suggestions from experts at the American Geriatrics Society (AGS), healthcare professionals dedicated to improving the health, independence, and quality of life of older people:

Check your eyesight to keep it as sharp as possible by getting a complete annual eye exam once you turn 60. Test yourself to monitor your vision:

- Do you have problems reading street signs?

- Are you having difficulty seeing road or pavement markings, curbs, or other vehicles or pedestrians, especially at dawn, dusk, and nighttime?

- Is glare from oncoming headlights making it hard to see when driving at night?

Assess your physical fitness to drive by asking yourself:

- Can I comfortably turn my neck to see over my shoulder when I change lanes?

- Can I easily move my foot from the gas pedal to the brake? Can

I easily turn the steering wheel?

- During the past year, have I fallen one or more times?

- Do I regularly walk more than a block a day?

- Can I raise my arms above my shoulders?

Perform a reality check on your attention span and reaction time:

- Are you overwhelmed by signs, traffic signals, and car and pedestrian traffic, especially at busy intersections?

- Does it seem harder to merge into traffic on the highway?

- Do you take any medications that make you sleepy, dizzy, or confused?

- Do you feel less confident about driving at highway speeds?

- Do you react slowly to cars entering your roadway, or to cars that have slowed or stopped in front of you?

Pay attention to changes and warnings:

Freeform™ seat technology: a car owner's dream

(NAPSI)—Automotive seat design has become a crucial consideration for automakers as consumers spend more time in their vehicles, and as interior comfort becomes a major competitive battleground. Every automaker is striving to put a special "signature" on seats, one that conveys their distinct brand values.

To the benefit of both consumers and car makers, mobility technology company Magna International has recently introduced FREEFORM™, an innovative seat trim cover technique that puts seat design on a par with exterior design.

Styling Flexibility

FREEFORM is just what its name suggests: the freedom to achieve nearly endless design possibilities with various shapes and crisp styling lines for striking visual effects.

Explains Eric Kozlowski, the Magna chief engineer responsible for complete seat system advanced research and development, "It's a great way to differentiate seats. You can do any kind of shape or form. Car makers see this and say, 'But they told me this was impossible!' It's not with FREEFORM."

FREEFORM is a car maker's dream because it achieves design details as sharp as 3–4mm radii compared to 20–25mm for traditional cut-and-sew methods.

Sculptural seats that provide "eye candy" are only the beginning.

Quality and Comfort

Benefits

"You also get improved production consistency, craftsmanship, high quality and improved comfort with FREEFORM," Kozlowski said.

Magna's new patent-pending technology offers improved seat back comfort with highly concave surfaces and contours that hug the human shape. The sculpted, seamless surface offers more than 4 inches of concavity, resulting in added passenger comfort. Back panels have a "soft touch," with better rear seat knee clearance.

Seats are easier to clean due to the simple construction of the seamless surface and a zipper feature. This lets ride-sharing fleets for example easily clean and swap out seat covers during routine maintenance.

FREEFORM adds to the seat comfort factor with up to more than 4 times the breathability of other molded trim technologies. Because FREEFORM uses hidden tie-downs, traditional trim attachment methods—which can add up to nearly 80 components in a traditional cut-and-sew trim cover—are eliminated.

The technology works on leather, cloth or vinyl so you can still enjoy your choice of seat cover.

The next time you're looking for a new car, don't just kick the tires; kick back and try out the seats for class and comfort.

- Have friends or family members expressed worries about your driving?
 - Have you ever gotten lost on familiar routes or forgotten how to get to familiar destinations?
 - Has a police officer pulled you over to warn you about your driving?
 - Have you been ticketed for your driving, had a near miss, or a crash in the last three years?
 - Has your healthcare provider warned you to restrict or stop driving?
- Consider Getting a Professional Driving As-

essment

If you've experienced driving problems like these or are worried about your ability to be a safe driver, consider getting a professional assessment of your skills.

Occupational therapists trained as driving rehabilitation specialists can evaluate your driving skills and strengths, as well as any physical, visual, and cognitive challenges you may face. They can also evaluate your ability to operate a vehicle safely and, if needed, recommend ways to reduce your risks.

Driving rehabilitation specialists are trained to evaluate older drivers for:

- Muscle strength, flexibility, and range of motion
- Coordination and reaction time
- Judgment and decision-making skills
- Ability to drive with special devices that adapt your vehicle to your needs

The specialist may recommend ways for you to drive more safely after the evaluation. Suggestions may include getting special equipment for your car or helping you sharpen your skills.

Not sure how to find a driving rehabilitation specialist? Talk to your healthcare provider or contact the American Occupational Therapy Association for a directory. You can also visit the AGS's public education website, <https://www.healthinaging.org/driving-safety>, for more safe driving resources for older adults and caregivers.

50 YEARS AGO IN THE PHOTO PRESS

August 5, 1970

The Martin County Fair was to open for its 105th year.

The Fairmont Board of Education had tabled a bid for construction of a new athletic field submitted by Hodgman & Sons, due to anticipated difficulties in laying a running track around the field.

Two employees were retiring from the Railway Motors. They were Walter Hoglund and Art Gotfredson. They had a combined total of 63 years with the company.

Madsen's Super Valu, in a two-page spread, listed among its leaders a 3-pound basket of peaches for 59 cents and radishes were 8 cents a cello bag.

Rummaging around the last place I'd look

By Al Batt

I rummaged around. It's life on the planet Batt.

I wasn't chewing on life's gristle or on a quest. I wasn't looking for the truth. I wasn't looking for answers. I wasn't looking for Judge Crater, Amelia Earhart, Jimmy Hoffa or Waldo. I began my search as men typically do by saying, "Who stole my thingamajig?" Thingamajig could be replaced with whatnot, oojamaflop, whatsit, gizmo, whatsis, gubbins, thingamabob, whosis, thingummy, whatchamacallit, kajigger, widget, doodad, jiggambob, doohickey, whatsitsname, doojigger, whatdoyoucallit, or you know, that thing that fits on the end of the thingy.

It was something I'd use, but it was no big deal if I didn't find it. It wasn't even a medium-sized deal, but it was a deal. The longer it takes to find something, the more important finding it becomes.

I tend to put a thing in a good place where I'll always remember where it is. That's a great theory, but not always an effective practice. I do it because that's the way I was brought up. It's putting a message in a bottle and hoping you'll find it one day.

Life is an organizational challenge. Some days are like a vending machine that refuses to spit out what you want. There are six chemical elements common to all life: carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen, oxygen, phosphorus, and lost items. OK, the last element is really sulfur, but I don't spend much time trying to find sulfur.

I was cautiously optimistic about finding it. I had good intentions. The world needs people with good intentions. We spend our lives looking for things. Things we want, need or have lost. If I found it, I'd discard the phlegmatic Minnesotan attitude and be as happy as a gull with a french fry.

I knew a guy who couldn't remember where he'd put anything. His car carried a bumper sticker reading, "I've forgotten where I'm going." He forgot everything but his grudges. I've heard of people losing their minds while looking for something. Perhaps mine had drifted, as I found myself singing this song, "But I would walk 500 miles. And I would walk 500 more. Just to be the man who walks a thousand miles. To fall down at your door." My brain might have headed off to parts unknown as there was no clear connection between song and search. It didn't help.

When I was a dear boy, a Catholic friend would say, "Dear St. Anthony, please come around.

Something is lost and it cannot be found." Her brother used a more relaxed, yet demanding prayer, "Tony, Tony, look around. Something's lost and must be found!" Saint Anthony is the "Patron Saint of Lost Things." That's because when a novice stole a book of Psalms from him and St. Anthony prayed for it to be recovered, the novice returned it.

The lost & found department was closed. My wife had gone grocery buying. Nothing is truly lost until my wife can't find it. I checked the junk drawer and the last place I'd look for it. It wasn't in either place. I might woulda had oughta put it in a better place.

You know how it goes. If you're looking for a crow, you'll find a microw and a macrow before you find the crow.

I found a big ring of mysterious keys that I keep because I haven't lost them yet. I found a number of screwdrivers and enough pliers. My tool chest needs a couple of screwdrivers (slotted or flat-head and Phillips), two pliers (slip-joint and needle-nose), vise grip, crescent wrench and duct tape. And a hammer to use in case I can't fix something with a screwdriver, pliers, vise grip, crescent wrench or duct tape. It was whittling a big stick into a small stick. My quest was like having a humongous hankering for ice cream and entering a restaurant only to hear, "I'm sorry, our ice cream machine isn't working."

The search had gone into overtime. I was about to growl, "Release the Kraken!" when I found something else I'd been looking for forever. They say you can't find what you're not looking for. Sure, you can. I did. Who are they to tell us that? Is that yet another conspiracy theory? They ought to find a hobby instead of telling us all those things. I'm glad I found something because I'm not sure what a Kraken is. I didn't find what I'd searched for. It's just as well. By the time I'd have found it, I'd have forgotten I was looking for it.
