Filling Silo

Guest Columnist

The silo was very important on our farm when I was a boy. It was a source of cheap feed for the cattle. The silo was filled each fall with chopped corn silage. My father belonged to what was known as a silo ring, much the same as a threshing ring when we harvested the oats in mid summer. However, the silo filling always took place in the fall, about the time school started. I remember that well for I loved being home when all the neighbors would come for the filling. It was the big dinners, the excitement of the whole thing that I would miss when I was in school. I remember coming home from college the first week that I was there and they were filling silo at our farm. It was truly hard to go back to school and miss this event on the farm.

The corn was cut with a corn binder. This was a piece of equipment that had long snoots on it. Horses pulled it in the early days but our binder was modified to be pulled by the tractor. It took one row at a time, traveling very slowly. The bundles of corn were tied in the middle of the large stalks by the knotter on the binder. The binder would kick the bundles out in bunches as they were carried in the carrier until three bundles were made. The farmers, laying them across a flat bed wagon then picked up the bundles. When the wagon was full the farmer would take the load up to the farm site and wait to (as my father called it). The silo filler was a subject of its own. It was a piece of farm equipbundle on the apron and it would carry the knives. A tractor pulled pulley on both the tractor and the silo filler so be used over the two roar when the corn pulleys of the two. This meant that someone had to climb the silo way around the edge of the empty silo, setting on the edge. Celery Month! It's also National Caffeine Awareness month. But here at Burtis Chiropractic we celebrate it as National Nutrition Month. And while March Madness will soon descend upon us, it's a great time to look back and remind ourselves of the resolutions we made back in January to eat healthier. Have any of your resolutions become habits? Some experts tell us that we have to do somebecomes a habit. Good nutrition would be a lifechanging habit, literally!!

Good nutrition starts with knowing what is good for you, and how to change your current bad habits. It also can mean unlearning some of the mis-information that is so prevalent in today's world. The Robins are here!

A sure sign that spring is around the corner, we both saw a robin yesterday! We have had a busy time at our house, we have had company three out of four weekends. We love having our family come to visit. This weekend our grandchildren Aimee and Evan came down from up north for our great granddaughter Lydia's 1st birthday. Our son Jason and his fiancé, Pattie also came so we had a festive time. Lydia loved eating her very first cupcake to the last crumb. That little girl loves to eat just like her great grandma! Our daughter-in-law Melissa brought us a treat to share on their weekend visit. I'm not crazy about pretzels, but Pa Lloyd loves them. I have to admit this is a snack where its hard to eat just one! Melissa shared the recipe, so I hope that you will like them too. It makes a huge batch so you will have a supply for awhile!

Party Pretzels

- 3 (15 oz.) bags pretzels
- 2 (12 oz.) bottles butter flavored pop corn oil
- 2 pkg. dry hidden valley ranch seasoning
- 1 tsp. dill weed
- 1 tsp. cayenne pepper
- 1 Tablespoon black pepper
- 1 Tablespoon accent seasoning

Mix all ingredients except pretzels. Add pretzels, and mix until coated with seasoning mix. Spread on 4 cookie sheets. Bake 1 1/2 hours at 200 degrees. Stir every 20 minutes. Cool. Store in air tight container.

Have a great week!

weather Minnesota. Last weekend was some very nice weather and we were able to get rid of alot of the snow that was on the ground. It made for some pretty sloppy yards and roads, but with the warm temperatures, we could overlook the sloppy conditions. I saw a number of posts on Facebook over the weekend showing pictures of robins that have returned to the area, and a number of the comments made were questioning if they came back to quickly. Sure enough on Monday, many parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas were back

March to a shot of winter reality. My nephew up in Bismark, North Dakota reported ice and snow conditions up there that made the Monday morning commute a challenge for drivers. His take on the whole thing, "We go from mid to upper 40s one day, to a Winter Storm Warning the next when will it end?" Let's just hope that the robins don't regret their decision to return to the area!

"What is it?" revealed

Our "What is it?" item from last week stumped our readers. We had one gentleman call in to say it was a cabbage stomper, used to make cole slaw from cabbage, but I contacted my brother-in-law to confirm what it was and that was not the answer. The item we featured comes from Tanzania and is actually a wood chock block. Many of the trucks in that country need to have their wheels secured from rolling when they park them, so these wood chock blocks dot the countryside so that if someone pulls over to park, they have a way of blocking the wheels from rolling. This week we feature an item from Mick Thiesse of Ceylon, who brought this in to me. It is made of brass, is about 3 1/2 inches long and has two small hooks on one side. So, what is it? And what are the hooks used for? You can email me your guess jeff@fairmontat

We lose an hour of sleep Saturday

It is an argument that has been going for a long time between those who favor Daylight Savings and those who think time changes should just go away. This Saturday night we set our clocks ahead one hour before going to sleep, which means that your morning commute will be darker for a while, but it will stay lighter longer in the evening. Not all states in the U.S. observe the time changes any longer, which makes for interesting trips to those states! Personally, I would prefer that we just stay with one schedule and not have to change twice a year. I like having it stay lighter longer in the evening. It makes the day seem so much longer coming home from work in the daylight and not in the dark. I can accomplish so much more outdoors work in the evening when it is light outside after 6 p.m. Call it "all mental", but I never have liked working outdoors after dark - too much butter and jelly sandwich, happens that you can't see in the dark that you would see in daylight. So how you do you feel about Daylight Savings?

Hot meals and more! Just to give everyone a quick heads-up, the Sherburn Lions Club have their next prime rib supper scheduled. It is set for Saturday, April 7th from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Sherburn American Legion. Tickets are on sale in advance from the Photo Press, Amborn Lumber in Sherburn and at Bank Midwest Sherburn. Watch for advertisements in the Photo Press in the coming weeks! Here are some events that are taking place around the area in the next week. The Wednesday evening meal at Fairmont United Methodist Church will be held from 5 to 6 p.m. on March 7th. They will serve broccoli cheese and chicken noodle soups, along with egg salad sandwiches. Next Wednesday's meal will be homemade chili and cornbread. All meals include a peanut along with donated desserts and a beverage. Suggested donation is $2. A soup and sandwich luncheon will be held at Martin Luther High School, Northrop on Sunday, March 11th from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. A free-will donation is appreciated. Proceeds will go to benefit the Student Tuition Aid Fund for this school year.

"I saw a muskrat on the road in February. What was it up to?" It might have been searching for food due to a lack of it at its pond. Muskrats build houses by piling vegetation and those domes have underwater entrances. Muskrats are active all winter, so they need to eat and unlike beavers, they don't store food. They find food on the bottom of a pond or lake, diving into cold water to get it.

"Why do geese honk

fly in flocks, but most are quieter than geese, so they aren't always heard by us.

"I saw some bluebirds this winter. What are they eating?" Wild fruits and berries make up the main part of their winter diet. That includes red cedar, dogwood, hackberry, wild grape, poison ivy, sumac and other plants. They eat any insects they can find.

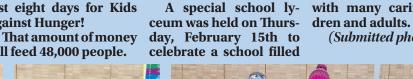

"Do the more colorful cardinals do better than less colorful ones?" Brighter males have higher reproductive success and hold better territories. The intensity of a male carwhen flying in flocks and dinal's redness is related to other birds don't?" Most what he's been eating. Viv-

IMPORTANT INFORMATION REGARDING PROPERTY ASSESSMENTS

This may affect your 2019 property taxes

The following is a schedule of the 2018 Boards of Appeal and Equalization or Open Book Meetings for the jurisdictions in Martin County. The purpose of these meetings is to determine whether property in the jurisdiction has been properly valued and classified. If you believe the value or classification of your property is incorrect, you or your agent should contact the assessor's office to discuss your concerns. If you disagree with the valuation or classification after discussing it with your assessor, you may appear before local board of appeal and equalization. The board will review your assessment and may make corrections as needed. Generally, you must appeal to the local board before appealing the county board of appeal and equalization. If your jurisdiction holds an open book meeting all residents automatically qualify to appear before the County Board of Appeal and Equalization.

Red Bulls State AA Runner-ups

Number one ranked and #1 seeded Kasson-Mantorville won the Class AA crown for the fourth time since 2013. The KoMets, who defeated fellow Class AA power #2 ranked Simley in the Section 1AA championship, is the third wrestling program to win at least three consecutive Class AA titles.

Kasson-Mantorville continued its recent Class AA supremacy by overwhelming #4 ranked and #3 seeded Fairmont/Martin County West Red Bulls in the championship dual 49-9. The KoMets won six of the first seven matches to build a 22-3 lead. Eighth-grader Logan Vaughan started the run with an injury default victory over freshman Lucas Jagodzinske of Fairmont/Martin County West at 103 pounds. Jagodzinske, who was also scheduled to wrestle in the individual tournament, did not because of a broken elbow. Kasson-Mantorville put another run together, winning five of the final six weights to cruise past the Red Bulls.

The Red Bulls Jaxson Rohman won 3-1 in overtime against the KoMets Jared Johnson. Miles Fitzgerald had a 2-0 decision against Nic VanOort. Collin Steuber picked up the Red Bulls final points with a 9-2 triple overtime thriller against Iim Paulson. In the third-place match, Scott West rallied to defeat Perham 33-30 with a victory at heavyweight. In the consolation final, Foley used a 17-point surge in the final three weights to turn what had been a one-point advantage into a 44-26 victory over South St. Paul.

The Red Bulls, a state tournament rookie, made its way into the championship with a 30-28 victory over #3 ranked #2 seeded Scott West in the semi-finals. The Red Bulls stormed to a 19-3 lead with victories in five of the first six weights. Jagodzinske and Rohman had tech falls. Sophomore Cale Steuber gave the Red Bulls a 16-0 lead with a 1-0 decision over Scott West junior Jacob Hill at 126. It was the Red Bulls' fourth consecutive win to open the dual. Payton Anderson won 6-4 in overtime and Nathan Simmonds added a tech fall.

At 195 pounds, senior Collin Steuber gave the Red Bulls a 30-19 lead following a crucial pin of Scott West senior John Hilgers. The Panthers pulled to within 30-22 when senior Dylan Aslaskon recorded a 4-0 decision over senior Connor Tordsen at 220. Tordsen not getting pinned or a tech fall clinched the dual victory for the Red Bulls, who had an insurmountable eight-point lead with one weight remaining. The golden haired Red Bulls, with a sign of unity dyed their hair along with head coach Williamson's Adam goatee, topped South St. Paul 45-16 in the opening round. The Red Bulls captured 10 of 14 matches. Rohman, Connor Simmonds, Tristan Lange and Tordsen pinned their opponents.

Individually for the Red Bulls Jaxson Rohman, who was named to the all-tournament team, was crowned state champ. Rohman opened with a pin (2:29) over Bryce Erkenbrack of Totino-Grace. Major decisioned Brody Ullyott of Detroit Lakes 15-5. Decisioned Jared Johnson of Kasson-Mantorville and had a 10-3 decision over Park Rapids Area's Ashton Clark in the title match. Jordan Wolter, Miles Fitzgerald, and Collin Steuber captured sixth place medals.

Individual Results:

113AA 1st Place Match - Jaxson Rohman (51-2) won by 10-3 decision over previously undefeated Ashton Clark (38-1) of Park Rapids Area. 132AA 5th Place Match - Brock Luthens (48-3) of Hutchinson won by 6-3 decision over Jordan Wolter (41-11). 145AA 5th Place Match - Antonio Cortez (50-6) of South Saint Paul won by 5-3 decision over Miles Fitzgerald (43-11). 182AA 5th Place Match - Tyler Buesgens (51-3) of Scott West, won by 3-2 decision over Collin Steuber (50-6).

Jaxson Rohman is the first state champion for the Red Bulls' program that was formed seven years ago.

Fairmont had three state champions: 1986 Jeff Balcom, Class AA at Hwt. 1991 Josh Tietje, Class A at 189. 1997 Jake Tietje, Class AA at 189. MCW has had four state champions: 1989 Kevin Lange, Class A at 160. 1990 Todd Lange, Class A at 152. 1993, 1994 & 1995 Jon Fitzgerald, Class A at 103. 2004 Dusty Faber, Class A at 215.

The USDA National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) recently released the 2017 estimated average county yields for corn, soybeans, and other crops. The NASS yields reveal just how surprisingly remarkable the 2017 corn yields were in the Southern half of Minnesota, as well as in some other areas of the Upper Midwest States. 2017 was the third year in a row that Minnesota has achieved a record corn yield. The 2017 County yields for all crops in Minnesota, Iowa, and all other States are available on the NASS web site at: http:// www.nass.usda.gov/

NASS is estimating the 2017 corn yield in Minnesota at the record level of 194 bushels per acre, which exceeded the previous State record corn yield of 193 bushels per acre in 2016. Other recent statewide corn yields were 188 bushels per acre in 2015, 156 bushels per acre in 2014, and 159 bushels per acre in 2013. The 2017 average soybean yield in Minnesota is estimated at 47 bushels per acre, which is well below the State record soybean yield of 52 bushels per acre in 2016, sota had 2017 average corn mates, Minnesota proand also trails the 50 bushels per acre average yield in 2015. However, the 2017 statewide soybean yield is well above other recent statewide average yields of 41.5 bushels per acre in 2014 and 42 bushels per acre in 2013.

Based on the NASS data, Minnesota had an 1.48 billion bushels, compared to 1.54 billion bushbushels in 2015, and 1.18 billion bushels in 2014. The eleven counties in Minnesota's South Central Crop Reporting District produced just over 323 million bushels of corn last year, followed by the West Central Minnesota District at over 297 million bushels, and the Southwest District at nearly 291 million bushels. Renville County produced the most corn in 2017 at 53.6 million bushels, followed in the top five for corn production by Martin, Redwood, Faribault, and Mower counties.

An incredible twen-Southern third of Minne- 2016 record corn yields in est 2017 county soybean counties averaging over yields that exceeded 200 bushels per acre, based on the NASS data. Watonwan County had the highest estimated average corn yield at the exceptional level of 218.9 bushels per acre, followed in the top five counties by Dodge County at 215.8 bushels per acre, Faribault County at 215.3 estimated total 2017 corn bushels per acre, Waseca production of just over County at 215 bushels per with 12.3 million bushels. acre, and Steele County Other counties in the top at 214.8 bushels per acre. els in 2016, 1.43 billion Other counties that exceeded 205 bushels per acre yield in 2017 were Blue Earth, Carver, Cottonwood, Fillmore, Freeborn, Goodhue, Jackson, Le Sueur, Martin, McLeod, Mower Nicollet, Olmsted, ley, and Wabasha.

> ern Minnesota had 2017 corn yields that exceeded 185 per acre; however, the 2017 corn yields in many most counties. The 2017 corn planting dates in the Northern half of Minnesota were later than normal, and some portions of the Rock County at 58 bushels of 222.4 bushels per acre, region got somewhat dry late in the growing season.

Based on NASS estiduced just over 380.2 million bushels of soybeans in 2017, compared to slightly under 389.5 million bushels in 2016, and 377.5 million bushels in 2015. The top five soybean producing counties in 2017 all exceeded a total production above 10 million bushels, led by Polk County in Northwest Minnesota five for soybean production were Renville County at 11.9 million bushels, Redwood County at 11.4 million bushels, Blue Earth County at 10.2 million bushels, and Faribault at 10 million bushels.

Most counties in Min-Renville, Rice, Rock, Sib- nesota had lower 2017 estimated soybean yields Most other counties in that were lower than the record 2016 yield levels. Watonwan County was an exception, with a yield of 60.3 bushels per acre, and was the only county that counties in Central and had an average yield that West Central Minnesota exceeded 60 bushels per were lower than the record acre in 2017, compared to 2016 corn yield levels. The nine counties in Minnesoestimated 2017 corn yields ta that exceeded that level had 2017 corn yields that 62.8 bushels per acre, and Northwest Minne- in 2016. Following Watonty-eight counties in the sota were well below the wan County, the next high- els per acre, with nineteen bushels per acre.

yield estimates were Martin County at 59 bushels per acre, Faribault County per acre, and Blue Earth County at 57.4 bushels per acre. Other counties with estimated average 2017 55 bushels per acre included Cottonwood, Freeborn, Goodhue, Jackson, Mower, Nicollet, Olmsted, Steele, and Waseca.

Based on the NASS estimates, Iowa produced just over 2.6 billion bushels of corn in 2017, compared to slightly over 2.7 billion bushels in 2016, and 2.5 billion bushels in 2015. area, lead the State with an estimated production of 63.3 million bushels, followed by Pottawattamie, Sioux, Crawford, and Clinton counties, all producing over 41 million bushels in 2017. The record Iowa average corn yield of 203 bushels per vield level in 2015.

215 bushels per acre. Marshall County, in Central Iowa, lead the State with at 58.7 bushels per acre, a 2017 average corn yield followed by Cedar County at 222.3 bushels per acre, Crawford County at 221.9 bushels per acre, Buchansoybean yields exceeding an County at 221.3 bushels per acre, and Sioux County at 220.7 bushels per acre. Other counties with an estimated 2017 average corn yield exceeding 220 bushels per acre were Scott, Tama, and Washington.

Iowa produced just over 561.5 million bushels of soybeans in 2017, compared 566.4 million bushels in 2016, based on Kossuth County, which is the NASS production esthe largest in geographic timates. Iowa had an estimated 2017 statewide average soybean yield of 56.5 bushels per acre, which is well below the 2016 record average statewide soybean yield of 60 bushels per acre. The Northwest Crop Reporting District estimated 2017 statewide had the highest regional average corn yield in Iowa average soybean yields in was 202 bushels per acre, 2017, with Sioux County which is just below the topping the State with an estimated average yield at 64.6 bushels per acre. acre in 2016; however, the Other top soybean yield-2017 yield was well above ing in 2017 were Lyon the 192 bushels per acre County at 63.2 bushels per acre, Marshall and Grundy counties at 63 bushels per acre, Scott County at averaged over 200 bush- Delaware County at 62.5
