New DMC program for dairy farmers

ated the Dairy Margin Coverage (DMC) program as a safety-net program for dairy producers, which an enhancement to the Market Protection Program (MPP) in the 2014 Farm Bill. The DMC program builds on the enhancements that were made to MPP in the 2018 Bipartisan Budget Act, which made the MPP program more affordable for many dairy producers. Similar to MPP, the DMC program is a margin-based program, which is calculated on the income over feed cost margins on a monthly basis. USDA has announced that sign-up for the new Dairy Margin Coverage (DMC) program will begin on June 17th, 2019. DMC payments are scheduled to begin after July 8th, 2019, and DMC payments to eligible dairy producers will be made ret- mum coverage level was 90 1st, 2019.

DMC is a voluntary program, which requires dairy producers to choose production and price coverage levels at various premium rates. There were some fairly significant enhancements in the DMC program, as compared to the previous MPP program, in providing a safety-net program for dairy producers. There is especially enhanced risk protection for those producers for smaller-sized dairy herds under 250 cows; however, the new DMC program also provides more flexibility for larger dairy operations. Following are some of the highlights of the new DMC program:

• Dairy producers now have a coverage level choice up to 95 percent of production history. (MPP maxi-

- Three new Tier 1 price coverage levels at $8.50/ cwt., $9.00/cwt., and $9.50/ cwt. (MPP top price level was $8.00/cwt.)
- Tier 1 DMC coverage goes up to 5 million pounds of production (approx. 200-250 cows). (MPP Tier pounds.)
- Provides more flexibility, allowing larger dairy farms may select different coverage levels for Tier 1 and Tier 2 DMC coverage, if they select the $8.50/cwt. coverage or higher for their Tier 1 coverage. They can take advantage of the improved DMC coverage on the first 5 balance of the production. (MPP required that all coverage be at the same price

1 coverage level selected is $8.00/cwt. or lower.)

- Provides a 25 percent premium discount for dairy producers that make a onetime 5-year enrollment into the DMC program (must choose the production and price coverage level).
- DMC premiums are more affordable than with the original MPP. Producers can purchase the $9.50/cwt. coverage for a premium of $.15/cwt., which is reduced to $.1125/cwt. when utilizing the premium discount (referenced earlier). The DMC premium for $8.00/ 1 maximum was 4 million cwt. coverage is $.10/cwt., or $.075/cwt. with the premium discount. (The $8.00/ cwt. coverage under the MPP program had a premium of $.142/cwt.) Larger dairies that opt for Tier 2 DMC coverage can receive $5.00/cwt. coverage for $.005/cwt., or $4.00/cwt.
- coverage for free. • Allows for 75 percent million pounds and opt for of the MPP premiums paid lower coverage levels on the from 2014-2017 to be applied as a premium credit for DMC enrollment. Pro-as an alternative to the DMC premium credit.

- Dairy producers may enroll in both the DMC program and either the Livestock Gross Margin (LGM) or Dairy Revenue Protecare RMA crop insurance type programs. (With MPP, producers could choose MPP or LGM coverage, but not both.)

Tier 1 Price Coverage

Under MPP, many dairy producers selected Tier 1 or $8.00 per hundredweight coverage levels for 2015 to 2018. Based on USDA data, MPP payments only occurred in 4 percent of the months during that time period at the $6.50/cwt., and in 41 percent of the months ducers also have the option at the $8.00/cwt. level. The level, which is still required to take 50 percent of the DMC program now offers under DMC when the Tier MPP premium payment as higher price coverage level a one-time cash payment, options of $8.50, $9.00, and $9.50 per hundredweight. Had the DMC program been in place from 2015 to 2018, DMC payments would have occurred in 52 percent of the months at $8.50/cwt.; 63 percent of the months at tion (RP) program, which $9.00/cwt.; and 80 percent of the months at $9.50/cwt.

The maximum DMC

coverage price is $9.50 per hundredweight, which is 117 percent above average • Dairy producers that MPP/DMC margin over the past ten years of $8.11 per hundredweight. The average MPP/DMC margin over the past five years has been $9.51 per hundredweight, actively receive eligible 2018 which correlates to the new maximum DMC price cov-Impacts of the Higher erage level. It should be noted that the 5-year average was more impacted by the record high margin level coverage at either the $6.50 in 2014. Past price margins are not necessarily a predictor of future DMC program payments; however, based on current trends in the margins, the $9.50 per hundredweight level should provide a considerably improved safety-net for dairy producers.

The County's House

Guest Columnist

Lenny Tvedten, Director, Martin County Historical Society

The archives of the Pioneer Museum indicate that Martin County has had a court house since 1862. However, the present courthouse is vastly different from the first one that was constructed in approximately the same location.

The county board appropriated the sum of even hosted the county $200.00 to build the first courthouse in 1861. That figure included the cost of furnishings. The contract, in June of 1862, specified a frame building measuring eighteen feet by twentyfour feet. The grounds on which the courthouse stood was purchased for $100.00 from Benson C. Hinkle. It was reported that the fee was a requirement although Hinkle accepted no money in exchange for the site.

The contract for building the first courthouse was awarded to W. W. Carrington who sublet the construction work to W. H Budd. Carrington hauled the lumber for the construction of the courthouse from Shelbyville located in Blue Earth County about two miles south of Amboy. It was at one time a thriving community that

The first courthouse was utilized for virtually every public function. It was the site of the first Martin County Fair, it served the military during the Civil War when they were stationed in Fairmont, and it was even used for church services from time to time. Put Together a Team to Help Reach Your Goals

As you work toward achieving your goals in life, you will need to make moves that contain financial, tax and legal elements, so you may want to get some help - from more than one source.

Specifically, might want to put together a team comprised of your advisor, financial your CPA or other tax professional, and your attorney. Together, team can help you with many types of financial/ tax/legal connections.

For starters, you may decide, possibly upon the recommendation of your financial advisor, to sell some investments and use the proceeds to buy others that may now be more appropriate for your needs. If you sell some investments you've held for a year or less and realize a capital gain on the sale, the gain generally will be considered shortterm and be taxed at your ordinary income tax rate. But if you've held the investments for more than a year before selling, your gain will likely be considered long-term and taxed at the lower, long-term capital gains rate, which can be 0%, 15% or 20%, or a combination of those rates.

On the other hand, if you sell an investment and realize a capital loss, you may be able to apply the loss to offset gains realized by selling other, more profitable investments and also potentially offset some of your ordinary income. So, as you can see, the questions potentially raised by investment sales - "Should I sell?" "If so, when?" "If I take some losses, how much will they benefit me at tax time?" - may also be of importance to your tax advisor, who will need to account for sales in your overall tax picture. As such, it's a good idea for your tax and financial advisors to communicate about any investment sales you make.

Your tax and financial advisors also may want to be in touch on other issues, such as your contributions to a retirement plan. For example, if you are selfemployed or own a small business, and you contribute to a SEP-IRA - which is funded with pre-tax dollars, so the more you contribute, the lower your taxable income - your financial advisor can report to your tax advisor (with your permission) how much you've contributed at given points in a year, and your tax advisor can then let you know how much more you might need to add to move into a lower tax bracket, or at least avoid being bumped up to a higher one. Your financial advisor will be the one to recommend the investments you use to fund your SEP-IRA.

Your financial advisor can also help you choose the investment or insurance vehicles that can fund an estateplanning arrangement, such as an irrevocable living trust. But to establish that trust in the first place, and to make sure it conforms to all applicable laws, you will want to work with an attorney experienced in planning estates. Your tax professional may also need to be brought in. Again, communication between your various advisors is essential.

These are but a few of the instances in which your financial, tax and legal professionals should talk to each other. So, do what you can to open these lines of communication because you'll be one who ultimately benefits from this teamwork.

What's Cooking

with Kathy Lloyd

Warmer temperatures on their way!

By the time you read this I will be lounging in Arizona, however rain and cooler temperatures are forecast for the first three days of our visit! I am hoping when we return it will be warmer here with maybe even a hint of spring in the air! It will take awhile for all of this snow to melt, but it will happen.

I have been keeping an eye out for casserole recipes that don't call for cream soups because they contain fat, salt and also gluten which my grand daughter can't have, it's a challenge but I have found a couple. I have tried them both and they are worth making again. I had never tried a Jambalaya rice mix, so after I had cooked it, I tasted and found it very spicy, in fact I didn't care for it at all but after mixing in all of the other ingredients there was only a hint of spice. I found this recipe in the Paula Deen magazine.

Chicken and Jambalaya Rice Casserole:

2 1/2 cups water

1 (8 oz.) box Jambalaya rice dinner mix

(Zatarain's brand)

4 cups shredded rotisserie chicken

1 (10-ounce) can diced tomatoes

with green chiles

2 cups shredded Colby-Jack cheese blend, divided

1 cup chopped celery

1 cup heavy whipping cream

1 (10 oz.) bag frozen vegetable seasoning blend Garnish: green onion, optional

In large saucepan, bring the 2 1/2 cups water and rice mix to boil over medium-high heat. Reduce heat; cover and simmer for 25 minutes or until water absorbed.

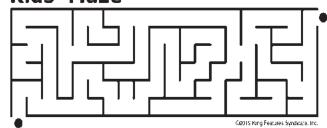

Spoon cooked rice into a large bowl, add chicken, tomatoes, 1 cup cheese, celery, and cream, mix to Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

A FEW OF OUR CATS AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION:

LOKI lives up to his name and is a bit of a shape shifter and trickster. Loki appears to be black, but he can sometimes appear brown. (Probably due to the light and not a shifter ability.) He also tricked us into thinking he was shy and unfriendly, but now seeks attention. Loki would like to come to your house and see what he can DORIS is a sweet brown tabby girl. She loves to be petted and held, but also likes to play. Doris is a young adult.

ROXY is jet black. She is about 4-5 months old with beautiful golden eyes. Playful and loving, Roxy will be a great addition to her new family.

A FEW OF OUR DOGS AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION:

TOPPER, TUCKER and TANNER are 6 month old cattle dog and beagle mixes. These brothers have more of the cattle dog look. Tanner has more of the red heeler look, while Topper and Tucker are the blue heeler color. The brothers love kids. REESE is a black lab and husky mix. He is about 60 pounds and is mainly black with a little white. Reese needs a home without cats and would do best with no small children.

ROSE is back! Rose, a black boxer and pit mix has been adopted twice but returned. The first family loved Rose and felt she was a great fit except for her attitude toward their other dog. The most recent adopters said Rose was the best mannered dog they ever had. The only problem is that Rose needs to be the only pet. She is housetrained, calm, walks well on leash, and is very sweet. We are looking for a home for this special girl where she can get all of the people attention.

Help the Opera House! Last weekend's rain created lots of problems for people around the area and especially for a historic building in Fairmont. Blake Pothoff, executive director of the Opera House saw water coming down the inside wall of the building on Saturday and upon further investigation, he saw light between the wall and the roof in the attic area that was filled with ice, allowing the rain and melting ice to run down the inside and outside walls of the structure. This will mean the replacement of the roof among other repairs needed. Blake has put out the call for donations to help with repairs and to ultimately save this iconic building. Citizens have stepped up in the past in bad situations and hopefully will do so again.

Should you itemize or take the standard deduction?

Here's what the choice boils down to:

- If your standard deduction is less than the sum of your itemized deductions, you probably should itemize and save money. Beware, however, that itemizing usually takes more time, and you'll need to have proof that you're entitled to the deductions.
- If your standard deduction is more than the sum of your itemized deductions, it might be worth it to take the standard deduction (and the process is faster).

Note: The standard deduction went up in 2018, so you might find that it's the better option for this year even if you itemized last year.

Your tax software or tax advisor can run your return both ways to see which method produces a lower tax bill.

IRAs: Your Complete Guide

by Dayana Youchim

Regular savings accounts are fine for storing contributions are taxshort-term savings, but if you're saving for retirement, an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) is better.

What is an IRA?

An Individual Retirebuilding retirement savings. Unlike an ordinary bank savings account, it allows you to purchase savings investments, such as mutual funds and stocks, and offers tax breaks that can save you thousands of dollars over the life of the account.

IRA benefits

Both of the primary varieties of IRAs — the traditional IRA and the Roth IRA — allow you to save $6,000 per year ($7,000 if you're 50 or older), even if you're also contributing to a 401(k) or other workplace savings plan. (Note: Those limits are up from $5,500 and $6,500 in 2018.)

With a traditional IRA,

With a Roth IRA, contributions are not tax-deductible, but unlike with ment Account (IRA) is a traditional IRA, you an account designed for can withdraw money taxfree in retirement from a Roth.

> Average account interest rates have languished well below 1% for more than a decade, but you'll find many of the investments available through IRAs have earned far higher returns over the long term. (Don't worry if you're new to this realm. See how to invest your IRA for some simple and effective investment strategies.)

How to choose the right type of IRA

First things first: Not everyone is eligible for all the perks of traditional and Roth IRAs.

Your income level will determine whether you're allowed to contribute to a Roth IRA. Anyone — regardless of income — can contribute to a traditional IRA. But the amount of your traditional IRA contribution that you're allowed to deduct from your taxes may be limited by your income and whether you or your spouse has access to a retirement plan at work.

If you find you're eligible for either account, here are some considerations to help you decide between them:

TRADITIONAL IRA

If you're eager to get a tax break today versus one in retirement, a traditional IRA may be a good choice since the money you contribute may be deductible from your taxes for the year.

What's the advantage? Perhaps you're subject to a high tax bracket today and expect to be in a lower tax rate in retirement. Or maybe the upfront tax break is what attracted you to IRAs in the first place.

Keep in mind that when it comes to withdrawals, you will either need to be age 59 1/2 or meet some specific requirements to take money from a traditional IRA without paying a penalty - see traditional IRA withdrawals for details.

ROTH IRA

If you've got the willpower to wait to get your tax break, the Roth can be an especially attractive

While you can't deduct Roth contributions from your taxable income while you're saving, in retirement your Roth withdrawals are not taxed at all. That goes for contributions and investment earnings. (With a traditional IRA, you will pay taxes on both your contributions and earnings when you withdraw money.)

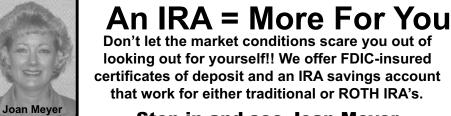

On the withdrawal front, the Roth comes with another big perk: You can take out money you contributed to a Roth IRA at any time without penalty. But there are rules about early withdrawals of investment earnings and other transferred funds.

Before choosing an IRA provider, ask yourself how involved you want to be in the management of your investments:

- If you want to choose investments for yourself, an online brokerage is a good way to go.
- If you want help managing your retirement account, consider a robo-advisor — a service that selects low-cost and risk-appropriate investments for you.

Once you have chosen a provider, the online signup process for an IRA is pretty simple: Provide some general information (Social Security number, birthdate, contact information, employment details). Then choose how you want to fund the account — via bank transfer, perhaps rolling over a 401(k) from a previous employer.

We believe in you."

"Ronnie"

I was very tired when I pulled into the Visitor's Information Center and Rest Area, on I-94 near Pleasant Prairie, Wisconsin, around midnight. I had had enough driving for the day and climbed into the back of my wagon where I crawled into my sleeping bag and curled up with my dog June. Laying my head on the pillow, I went out like a light.

I awoke just before seven in the morning feeling rested, but a little chilly. Guessing the temperature was around fifteen degrees, I leaned forward, turning on the key to check. "That's odd." I said, wondering why the outside air temperature didn't display. I hunkered back into my warm sleeping bag; June snuggled inside with me. well, it doesn't matter." I said, "We'll just sleep a while longer then get up and head out." I tried to fall back asleep, but was burdened by a looming thought. "Why didn't that temperature light come on?"

I slid from under my cozy covers, into the driver's seat and turned on the key. All the dash lights were inevitable, I tried starting the motor but the battery didn't have enough wanted to deal with early on a Sunday morning. handle such a situation, I wasn't too worried.

coat and stocking hat. I smiled with confidence as I reached behind the driver's seat for the portable battery pack my father-in-law gave me a couple years ago. At first. I thought the pack was just a gimmick - sure, it might recharge a cell phone or other such device, but there was no way this little box, only dim. Suspecting the 3 X 8 X 1 ½" thick, was going to start a car.

I had the opportunity to put the battery pack juice to turn the engine to the test at home one over - it was so dead the time. My old dump truck starter wouldn't even had sat for over seven click. This is not what I months, through the winter and the battery was dead as a door Still, being equipped to nail. I must admit I was shocked when that little emergency power pack I pulled on my shoes, actually started that big

V-8 engine. That's how I knew it would also start my little four-cylinder Subaru, with no problem at all. I quickly became a believer and carried that power pack with me on all my ventures.

I plugged the special jumper cables into the pack, then clipped them onto the battery posts. I sat in the driver's seat, pressing the clutch pedal to the floor, I turned the kev and...nothing. "Ah," I told June, "I forgot to push the power button." I took care of that and went to start the engine again. Urr, urr, click, click, click. I climbed out again to check my connections. They certainly looked tight so I checked the LED lights on the battery pack itself.

Only two of six lights were on. I recalled on the previous trip using the pack to help a stranger with a dead battery. I failed to recharge the pack afterwards.

Inside the Visitor's Center, I found an electrical outlet to plug in the unit, then I got cleaned up while it charged. There was nobody there but me

...the man didn't seem very friendly, or happy to see me, let alone talk to me...I approached him anyway...

ommunity ptions & esources

Community Options & Resources (COR) is a private, non-profit organization which provides residential and in-home support services to persons with disabilities in Martin, Jackson and Watonwan Counties.

The COR mission is to provide a service promoting the ability of each individual to lead a productive and enjoyable life in all environments with the support of professionally skilled staff.

Chuck (right) has been a Direct Support Professional with COR for almost 5 years. He enjoys taking Rodney to Bowlmor on Friday nights during the fall and winter to attend ARC bowling and watch Rodney achieve a high score with all those strikes! Chuck and Rodney also enjoy attending People First to discuss and share new and ongoing things for people with disabilities. Chuck and Rodney attend Different Drummer Dances, People First (Martin and Jackson counties), movies at the local theatre, seeing all the lights during Christmas (from here to Mankato), the Fairmont or Jackson races and going out to eat fast food.

Rodney has many interests and talents that include attending church, beating all of his staff and housemates at Wii bowling, and gambling (and winning big) at Jackpot Junction. He enjoys watching Ellen, daytime soaps, and don't forget about the Vikings and WWE. Rodney is a wiz at the iPad with facebook and all the casino slot games. If there is a parade close, Rodney is sure to be there to see the firetrucks and hear all the noise!

Chuck says he enjoys working with Rodney as he is lighthearted, always ready to have fun, and just a joy to be around. Chuck commented that working at COR is a place where there is flexibility, approachable management, and hard work is acknowledged and rewarded.

If you see Rodney and Chuck in the community, you are sure to be met with smiles and laughter ... and probably some antics as well.

Since 1975, COR's values have been the people we support, our staff, our homes, networking, and the future. If interested in joining the COR team, please visit www.cormn.com or call (507) 764-4612, ext 5.
