it out, so they spent the days leading up to when it hit getting things prepped for the storm. That included freezing water jugs, since they expected power outages and would need them for coolers. They also moved plants and outdoor furniture (basically anything that wasnt' nailed down) inside. By that time they were predicting that Michael would reach Category 3 by landfall. On Wednesday morning, Sharon woke up and saw that it was sprinkling out and they heard that an evacuation of Tyndal Air Force Base was taking place. That is when they both knew they had to leave. Michael had been upgraded to a Category 4 hurricane overnight.

They packed some their clothes and bed-things and their friends from Panama City Beach met them to leave the area around 9:30 a.m. Time stopped in Panama City at 11:11 a.m. that morning. The roof of Sharon and Darrell's home blew off about an hour and a half after they left it, they found out later on. The group of friends were able to find a hotel room in Montgomery, Alabama, which was about three hours away. The group spent the night there and then drove back to Panama City on Thursday, October 11th. They arrived back home around 1:30 that afternoon to four walls, a partial roof, uprooted trees and devastation one cannot imagine.

Since then, Sharon and Darrell have spent their time trying to see what they can salvage. With the help of Darrell's brother from Georgia, they have had the roof re-sheeted to keep out rain and have gone through most everything in the house. She said that they were able to keep her kitchen things, a very few wall hangings, some of ding. Everything else was considered a loss - either rain soaked or full of insulation from the roof falling in. She was thankful that greatgrandmother Edward's china was unharmed as well as an old rocking chair they had just refinished and her Vikings quilt!

Their house was found to have mold growing in it already and the beach area was also affected by the red tide effect. They rented a storage facility to keep everything they were able to salvage.

Friends in the Martin County local area are going to hold a fundraiser for Sharon and Darrell. The date is Saturday, November 10th from 8 to 11 a.m. at St. John's UCC in Fairmont. The benefit will be a breakfast and silent auction. There also has been an account set up for them at Profinium Financial if anyone would like to donate to their help fund. Donations can be made out to the Sharon Thate Special Fund.

Watch for more information on the fundraiser benefit in next week's Photo Press.

Trimont farmer named to leadership program

Trimont farmer Haley Ammann has been selected as an American Soybean Association (ASA) Corteva Agriscience's Young Leader for 2018-'19.

"I hear a lot of talk about baby boomers trying to find millennials to get involved, but it doesn't scare me to get involved," says Ammann, 24, who is also a member of the Martin County Corn and Soybean Growers Association. "I'm always looking to grow myself and become more involved."

Ammann was raised on a cattle farm in Trimont. The farm grew into cow calf about 15 years ago, and her family rotates more than 100 acres of corn and soybeans. Ammann has been active in FFA programs, and currently sells Cenex branded products in the energy department at NuWay Cooperative.

"I work with farmers all day and then go home to my operation," says Ammann, who is marrying her fiancé, Levi, in August 2019. "It's exciting to see all the different people you can meet and ike vou places.

The ASA position isn't the first time Ammann has pursued a soybean leadership opportunity. In January 2018 Ammann was accepted into the National Biodiesel

ROULATION AUDIT BY ARTHA LITTURE

Board's See for Yourself trip to Fort Worth, Texas.

"I want to take these opportunities to my advantage and bring it back to my farm," Amman says. "I'm eager to revamp how I do things on my farm."

The Young Leader Program, sponsored by Corteva Agriscience and ASA, is a two-phase educational program for actively farming individuals and couples who are passionate about the future possibilities of agriculture.

Phase I of the 2018-19 Young Leader program will take place in Johnston, Iowa, in late November. The second and final phase of the program continues February 26th to March 2nd, 2019 in Orlando, Florida, in conjunction with the annual Commodity Classic Convention and Trade Show.

Minnesota couldn't have picked a better farmer to represent the state at the national level, says Martin County farmer Lawrence Sukalski.

"Haley will be a good one," he says. "She's one of those people - you give her something to do, she'll be there. She comes through quickly."

What's Cooking

with Kathy Lloyd

The frost is on the pumpkin!

There is definitely a chill in the air. Since Pa Lloyd's hip replacement surgery I have been taking Maggie out for her early morning constitutional which is shortly after 6:30. Its cool out there that time of the morning! Luckily its still kind of dark and since Maggie is afraid of the dark it doesn't take her long to do her business! Here's hoping that Pa is back to his usual duties by the time it snows! It's a little less hectic at our home. Baby Nora Grace is now home, Pa is more mobile and my mother's memorial service was Saturday. Even Maggie's flea infestation has subsided. Now its to get ready for Halloween. That's an event on Woodland Avenue, luckily once again our daughter Mary, Scott and our Grandson Nik are coming to our rescue for the evening!

I was looking for an easy recipe for a dessert and came across this gem in an old cookbook. We liked it, I hope you do too.

Norwegian Nut Apple Pie:

3/4 cup sugar

1/2 cup flour 1 tsp. baking powder

1 beaten egg

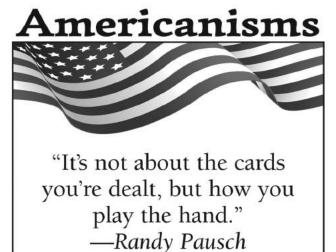

1 tsp. vanilla

1 1/4 cups chopped peeled apples

1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Combine sugar, flour and baking powder, whisk until well mixed. Mix in egg and vanilla, then stir in apples and walnuts. (batter is stiff) Grease a 8 or 9 inch pie plate and spoon mixture into and spread evenly. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Cut in wedges and serve with vanilla ice cream or whipped topping. Good warm or cold.

Have a great week!

out to be pretty nice, but when Karis and I woke up Saturday morning to a thick blanket of fog, we weren't so sure. By Saturday afternoon the fog had burned off and it was a nice end to the day. We took advantage of the nice weather to finish up "winterizing" everything outside at the farm. We even put up the snow fence on the west side of our place. That is a two-person job as I use the loader tractor to push in the fence posts, while Karis holds on found this item hanging to the post until the loader in the old pig house and

"What is it?" returns!

It has been quite a stretch since we have had a "What is it?", so I took it upon myself to go digging through my sheds last weekend to find an item to feature. I pushes it in. Our neighbor wasn't sure what it was, so > it will be this week's item. It is made of steel (main piece is flat steel, the other is a steel rod). It long when fully tended and is about 8 inches wide at the base. There is a wooden handle and the round rod is adjustable on the flat sides. So, what is it and what is it used for? If you know the answer, drop me an email at jeff@fairmontphotopress. com or call the office at 507-238-9456. Do you have an item that you want featured in a future column? Stop by the Photo Press with your item so we can take a picture, get details and measurements to be featured in a future column.

Remember to VOTE • Tuesday, November 6th

To the Editor,

When Jim Zarling publicly made the statement to step down as 3rd Ward Council member, I was finally relieved and hope that we might start a fresh and exciting process of growth in Fairmont.

Then I heard about Jim Zarling making a statement a few days ago that if asked, he would run as a write-in, and low and behold here it is, just a few days later on the front page of the Sentinel. It is interesting that the one person who asked him to run will not identify him or herself. And just before the deadline for write-ins. What a coincidence!

His opponent Randy Lubenow felt he did not need to spend funds as no one was running against him. Jim Zarling did not even debate, pay the filing fee, and by his own statement, he was stepping down. He reverses himself again and dropped hints that he would run if asked. Jim Zarling has a long history of reversing himself whenever it suited his purpose.

Jim appeared before the Council about 20 years ago, and asked that we raise the standard for our building inspections, as we had lost huge sums of money by our Attorney in court, and we needed to adopt this method to protect our city. You know the extra cost and expenses that everyone has paid to build here ever since, when the same thing can be built elsewhere at about 20% less. I feel that my voting for this action was one of the biggest mistakes I ever made because I bought into Jim's rhetoric. As everyone knows, I am and have always been for strong growth in Fairmont...

Jim suggested that perhaps Fairmont should stay small and not grow (i.e. building code). This was not the first time he asked this question to council members. I know of two more council members, besides myself, he approached. Jim asked each time that a project was suggested to him, "Do you really want to see Fairmont grow".

Jim states that he wants new infrastructure in Fairmont. He has had twenty plus years as Councilman and Administrator and we still have terrible roads and infrastructure that needs to be improved. Why did he not accomplish these tasks when he was Administrator and spent the last four years as a Councilman?

My suggestion to anyone living in the 3rd Ward, who is interested in seeing Fairmont grow and protect your jobs, and who cares about the citizens of Fairmont, please Vote for Randy Lubenow, as we need a breath of fresh air for Fairmont...

Respectfully Submitted, Terry D. Anderson

DeBoe Harper. "In reality, incorporating black cabinets or fixtures into an all-white kitchen can give it an upscale, current feel that's still streamlined -- and doesn't require cluttering your countertops with accent pieces."

Consider combining a matte black faucet, such as Moen's Sleek kitchen faucet, with a white backsplash and counters, or mixing black bentwood café chairs around a modern white tulip table for a more eclectic approach.

 Shower Your Bathroom with Style. Black and white can give your bathroom a clean, crisp look. Infuse black accents through a matte black faucet and coordinating accessories, like those from Moen's Genta bathroom suite, or through black and white floor tiles in a geometric print. Towels also provide an opportunity to add texture and visual interest, whether it's a modern floral or traditional houndstooth.

For a seriously eye-catching shower, install black and white striped tile. Keep the bathroom's walls white, so the tiles really pop, expanding the stripes to the ceiling to emphasize the height of your bathroom walls and make it feel bigger -- the thinner the stripes, the bigger the statement.

Weatherization Myths - Debunked!

(StatePoint) izing your home for each four common weatherizing season can make it more myths - busted! - to help get

Weather- it can be confusing. Here are comfortable - but how to do your home ready for cooler weather to come.

Myth 1: It doesn't matter where your thermostat is placed.

Truth: Location, location, location! You may be spending more on heating and cooling than you need to be if your thermostat is in the wrong place. Placed in direct sunlight, you run the risk of getting false readings, as it can "think" the room is warmer than it actually feels, causing your air conditioner to turn on when it isn't needed. Similarly, a thermostat placed near the kitchen often reads that the home is far warmer than it truly is due to the stove and oven. The best location is on an interior wall, centrally located and near areas where you spend the most time, ensuring these rooms are the most comfortable.

Myth 2: Closed curtains and blinds in cold weather prevent heat escape.

Truth: According to the Department of Energy, shades and drapes can reduce heat loss from a warm room by up to 10 percent. However, opening curtains and blinds during the day when direct sunlight hits can also allow for a warming effect. In winter, draperies should be closed at dusk but opened at dawn.

In addition, heat escape through windows can be prevented with window insulation products which create a barrier between outdoor air and a home's interior, helping block drafts and air leaks. And, it's also a myth that these are hard to install: A pre-taped edge makes for easy roll-on application, requiring no measuring, while fitting snuggly to indoor window frames to provide an airtight, crystalclear seal.

Myth 3: It's expensive to draft-proof your home.

Truth: Homeowners can actually save hundreds of dollars annually on heating and cooling costs with proper weatherization early in the season. How do you do it? There are many inexpensive, do-it-yourself weatherization products that are easy on the wallet and easy to install, requiring minimal - if any -- tools.

Windows and doors are the two largest draft sources in any home and should be top priorities for homeowners. Weatherstrip Seals are quick to install and seal various size gaps around windows and doors that may be allowing air to escape.

keep your home at a constant temperature.

Truth: A common misconception is that it's better to keep your home at a constant temperature, even when you're not home. However, if the system runs less during the day, it uses less energy. According to Energy.gov, you can save as much as 10 percent a year on heating and cooling by turning your thermostat normal setting for eight hours a day.

Community Center clarifications

There has been much public discussion lately about the proposed community center. We are aware there are many folks in town who have questions and concerns about the project. We wanted to take this opportunity to clarify some things and to provide the public with additional information in order to address some of those questions and con-in 2015 seeking to determine what local residents felt was necessary to imand sustainability of our community. A community center was the number one answer by a significant margin. This was not have long desired a community center, and several unsuccessful attempts have been made in the past to build one. The cur-

- In November 2016, Fairmont voters were asked to vote on a local option sales tax to help pay for the project. Project 1590 promoted this initiative and it passed by a substantial margin. The local sales tax can raise up to $15 million over the next 25 years. This was the first time a community center project had an identifiable funding source.
- In February 2017 the • This project began Community Center Action with a community survey Committee (CCAC) was conducted by Project 1590 formed from a group of community stakeholders who were identified by the City. The CCAC is sepaprove the quality of life rate from and acts independently of Project 1590. The mission of the CCAC is to gather information for the City so that the City can make an informed surprising, our residents decision as to how to proceed with the community center project. The City provided the CCAC with $125,000 in order for us to conduct our due diligence rent attempt is the furthest and hire the experts necthis project has ever been essary to assist in gathering essential information about the project.

- For the past 21 months, the CCAC has worked with an owner's representative, architect and general contractor to help guide our process. We've commissioned and conducted a market analysis which included community stakeholder meetings with seniors, sports associations, large and small employers, schools, government entities and existing fitness providers in the area. The conclusion of the market analysis was that this area could support a community center based on the demographics and income levels of our residents and the need for amenities typically contained within community centers, most notably an indoor pool.
- The CCAC also gathered information about what a facility might cost to operate. This consisted of getting budgets and financial information from other community centers in the region, as well projection prepared by the firm that did the market analysis based on its experience working with communities at the national level. The results from the operational analysis showed a wide range of outcomes. Some existing facilities generate thousands of dollars in profit each year, while others require subsidies in the $150,000-200,000 range each year. The national study showed a community center with a potential loss of $530,000. However, this was not an actual estimate for our community's project.
- The results of the operational analysis told the CCAC there is a wide variability in operational expenses and revenues for community centers. The CCAC concluded that it is essential that we select a well-qualified and experienced operator to run our facility. The data collected has given our committee context for expectations selecting the right operator.

- Let us be clear: There is currently no proposed first year budget for the community center, and certainly not one that shows a loss of up to $530,000 a year. An operator for the facility has not been identified nor has any programming for the facility been selected.
- The CCAC would not Edmundson (brandon@ and will not support a krasha.com), city staff or community center being brought to this community that is predicted to lose $530,000 a year.
- The CCAC and the City staff have already made contact with several YMCAs in the region who have expressed interest in being the operator of our facility. If the YMCA ends up being the operator, the YMCA will determine the appropriate programming for this area and create a budget to perform that programming. If the YMCA does not operate the facility, then other options will be explored including creating a parks and rec department within the City.
- Irrespective of who operates the facility, we will ask them to work with existing businesses who may be impacted by the project to try to find ways to develop partnerships and coordinate their programming so as to minimize any duplication of services.

The idea of a community center coming to this area started by the people asking for it and voting for it as a way to attract young families to the area, assist in hiring and retaining new employees and bringing people to the area to eat at our restaurants, stay at our hotels and shop at our stores. The City responded to the people by forming the CCAC to make sure that if we are going to pursue this project, and that it is done responsibly. The

and what to watch for as CCAC has spent the past we begin the process of 21 months doing just that, and we continue to volunteer our time to make sure we end up with a facility that will benefit all residents of this community regardless of age or income levels. We encourage people with any questions and comments to contact our committee co-chairs, Steve Hawkins (steve@hawkinsbestprice.com) or Brandon their city council representatives. If you have questions, please ask. We may have an answer already, but if we don't, then we will investigate additional information to get those answers. The current proposed plans, market analysis and presentation the CCAC made to the council are all available on the City's website for the public to review.

A matter of independence

The news cycle can be dizzying. In just the past few weeks, we've gone local issues over which from trade wars with China, to the Kavanaugh hearings, to stock market swings, to migrant caravans, to pipe bombs. Not that all those issues aren't important, but they can distract us from

we actually have control.

Not long ago, a letter from Andy Lucas appearing in these pages highlighted an important issue facing our town the building and funding of a proposed community center in Fairmont. But in many ways, this issue involves more than simply whether a new government-funded building should be constructed.

Ever since the agricultural crisis of the 1980s, rural communities have been struggling for their independence and today those challenges continue. First, the only way we can be independent is to take independent responsibility for our actions. We are told that the public will not be allowed to vote on the community center issue; we are told that the earlier vote on a sales tax was in effect a vote approving a community center; we are told that the final vote is in the hands of burdens we bequeath them today. the Fairmont City Council. But if we can't have a say over what government does in our town. we can hardly expect to be thought of as an independent community.

Second, there is good debt, and there is bad debt. Good debt occurs when a family buys a home or a farmer purchases a new tractor, knowing exactly how that acquisition of a necessary asset will be paid off. Bad debt, based only on obsure hopes or promises, inevitably erodes independence, especially in a community struggling to find a source of economic growth. To engage in the kind of expansion required by the proposed community center. without a strong base of economic growth, is to further dimish the independence of future generations, whose freedom will be restricted by the

to them. Furthermore. considered in the context of other potential upcoming investments reroads or possibly a new jail. In 1980 the population of Fairmont was 11,506 and in 2017 it was 10,126, so we must realwe make today will have fewer people in the future. Our duty to future generations on us the responsibility and independence. to carefully assess what burdens we impose on

Third, the question the community center must be asked as to investment needs to be whether the proposed community center will undermine the independence of local orgaquired for infrastructure, nizations that already perform many of the functions that the proposed center promises to perform. To undermine these local organizations, ize that commitments operated by volunteers committed to the futo be borne by relatively ture of our families and neighborhoods. would be the worst betral of our imposes community's integrity

- On Nov. 12, 1799, Andrew Ellicott Douglass, an early American astronomer, witnesses the Leonids meteor shower from a ship off the Florida Keys. Douglass wrote in his journal that he "was in constant expectation of some of them falling on the vessel." It is the first known record of a meteor shower in North America.
- On Nov. 16, 1901, on New York's Coney Island, a low-slung car called the "Torpedo Racer" breaks the world speed record for electric cars. Its builder and pilot, Andrew Riker, managed a speed of 57 mph.
- On Nov. 14, 1941, "Suspicion," a thriller starring Cary Grant and directed by Alfred Hitchcock, makes its debut. They would later collaborate on "To Catch a Thief."
- On Nov. 18, 1966, Sandy Koufax, 30, the ace pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, retires from baseball due to chronic arthritis in his pitching arm. "In those days there was no surgery," he said much later. In 1971, Koufax became the youngest person ever elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame.
- On Nov. 13, 1974, Karen Silkwood is killed in a car accident in Oklahoma. She had complained to the Atomic Energy Commission about unsafe conditions at the Kerr-McGee plutonium plant where she worked was and was on her way to meet with a union representative and a reporter. The folder of information she had with her was never found.
- On Nov. 15, 1984, "Baby Fae," a month-old infant who had received a baboon-heart transplant 20 days earlier, dies in California. Three other humans had received animal-heart transplants, but none survived longer than  $3 \frac{1}{2}$  days.
- On Nov. 17, 1993, Annie Proulx wins the National Book Award for "The Shipping News," her novel about an out-of-luck journalist and father. It later won the Pulitzer Prize.

Bumble bees rely on the queen to live through the winter and renew the population in the spring. A queen mates in the fall and then finds an underground hibernaculum to spend the winter. On average, a bumble bee queen lives about a year.

Remember to VOTE • Tuesday, November 6th

I know that I'm not the only person in Fairmont who is upset about losing one of our Constitutional freedoms.

Our country has survived because our constitution has allowed us so many freedoms. One of the most important is freedom of speech. This means we can say what we want, when we want, without censorship, or even how it offends others. This is what makes our Country! I am advocating open discussion and free speech for all.

In the past, the City Council has always allowed open discussion at the beginning of each meeting as a way for the citizens to express their concerns and thoughts, and nothing bad happened. In fact, sometimes we truly benefited from our citizens wisdom.

Unfortunately, the Mayor and three members of our City Council, (a group of concerned Fairmont citizens) decided to remove our ability to speak. It is now mandatory to sign a form in which we must declare our intent and content of presentation. This form must be presented to our administrator Mike Humpal, one week before council meeting.

Mayor Foster stated, that the county and school board do not allow open discussion. This is false, as the county offers open discussion prior to the agenda. She also stated that the school board does not either. This is false statement, the school board is not a governing body and as such has no authority compared to the city and county.

The mayor decided to limit our time allotted to two minutes at town hall meetings, and at workshops and our input is banned before and after the work session..

History has proven over and over that whenever a government leader wishes to control and dictate to his or her people, they must first strip them of their freedoms. We have been stripped of the freedom of speech, which freedom will they try to take next. My fellow veterans and I, fought for, and still believe in our constitutional rights, and for these reasons, we need to have fresh energy and ideas. If you agree, then "Vote for Randy Lubenow and Jeff Weber."
